Roy Harper Held In Atlanta On A Mischief Charge

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 11.—Outfielder Harper, of the Little Rock Southern Association club, was arrested and held in $600 bail yesterday on a warrant charging "malicious mischief" after Manager Eiberfeld, of the Little Rock club, had refused to pay for the canvas coverings on the bases that Harper is alleged to have damaged yesterday with his spikes.

have damaged yesterday with his spikes.

The arrest came fifteen minutes before the first game of the double-header yesterday and Elberfeld announced in advance he would protest the game. Zoellers played right field until Harper could be taken to the city criminal court, make bond and return to the park. Bond was signed by Thomas E. Defoor, an Atlantan.

When a downpour of rain yesterday prevented the game from being played several of the Little Rock players disported themselves on the edge of the field in the boyhood game of "one-old cat" much to the amusement of a crowd that had braved the threatening skies. Harper, according to the local club, repeatedly ran with his spiked shoes across the canvas coverings protecting the bases and pitcher's box from the weather.

Hearing in the case was set for September 6 in the criminal division of city court here.

Chief Jack Lewis Returns To Chick Lineup Thursday

Will Play Second Base for Tribe in Opener With Pels at Russwood-Tribe Again on Even Terms of .500-Flag Chances Are Gone.

BY BOB PIGUE.

HIEF JACK LEWIS, of the Chicks, is going to return to the lineup of the Tribe Thursday, when the locals return to Memphis for four games at Russwood. Jack will resume his position at second base, and will also will resume his position. Polly McLarry, Chick doorserve as field captain. Polly McLarry, Chick doorkeeper, has been serving in the role of field general since Lewis has been out. Ray Blades, who has been playing the middle cushion since Lewis has been on the missing list, will be relegated to the bench, to be used in a pinch hitting and utility BROKE ARM JUNE 28.

Chief Lewis has been nursing a broken arm since June 28, upon which date he was struck on the right forcarm by Clyde Barfoot. New Orleans right-handed pitcher. Jack was hit in the first inning, but it was not thought that the arm was broken. However, an X-ray revealed the fact that the arm had been broken about an inch above the wrist.

Lewis immediately went under the care of a physician, the broken arm was set and Jack started the long wait until the bones could knit. Lewis removed the splints several days ago, and has been throwing with his right arm steadily for the past 10 days. He says the wing feels as good as new, and that he is anticipating no further trouble, with it.

The return of Lewis to the lineup should strengthen the Chicks, for they have missed Jack quite a lot out there around the middle satchel. Blades did the best he could, but it is a fact that he is not cut out for an infielder. He would serve better in the outfield, for he has proved beyond question that he is not fitted for the first line of defense. Blades fields a ground bail in a way that causes him to make a flock of errors. His boots have been responsible for quite a few losses of the Chicks.

They have been wobbly and unsteady and absolutely unable to get started again with one of the drives that kept them out. jutely unable to get started again with one of the drives that kept them out in front for a long time.

The pitching staff the Tribe is paying at present looks good on paper, and there's no reason why such huriers as Dazzy Vance, Oscar Tuero and Rube Marshall should not be winning a majority of their games.

The injury of Lewis at a critical time is one reason the Chicks have been unable to stage a comeback. Now with Jack due to get back in the game on Thursday, the Tribe should be able to get back, and show a little class.

GOOD-BYE, PENNANT.

As far as this season's pennant is concerned, the Chicks are out of it unless a miracle happens, and the days of miracles are past.

With such strong teams as Little Rock, Atlanta, Birmingham and New Orleans out in front, it is almost a physical impossibility for the Tribe to overhaul any of the big four.

It would require a slump on the part of all four teams, and none of them are at present showing any signs of crackins. They are all about nolding their own, while the second division teams are sliding up and down, winning one and losing one, and remaining about stationarys.

ng about stationarys There is no legitimate reason why the Tribe failed to cash in this season, for they had the material. Where the fault lies is difficult to say, but it's a cinch that somebody is to blame.

ALL RECORDS BROKEN.

All previous attendance records for the Southern league have been broken this season, thus far, and it is under-stood that the Sunland major has even outdrawn its elder brother, the Amer-ican association, a class AA organi-tation.

The attendance has been good in practically every city except Nashville and Chattanooga, and had these two cities been up in the race they would have attracted the fans.

TUNICA VS. DYERSBURG IN SIX-GAME SERIE

Memphis has had a fine year, and when the final tabulation is made, it is almost a certain fact that the Chicks will have attracted about as many fans as any city in the league.

The Atlanta Crackers are playing to full parks every day. The attendance at Birmingham is also good.

THE SHAME OF IT.

When the officials of the Atlanta baseball club had Roy Harper, Little Rock outfleider, arrested just before Tuesday's double-header in Atlanta, for malicious mischief." It was one of the smallest tricks that has been resorted to in a long time in an effort to give one club the edge on the other.

Home Run Baker is to return to the New York Yankega, but he will discover the massive frame of Babe Ruth in his warm place.

Baker is to serve the Yanks in a utility and pinch-hitting role. He has not been playing ball since the death of his wife some time ago.

A fan drops a card to ask for a few facts concerning Babe Ruth. Here's a bird's-eye view of Bambino:

Doak Had No-Hit Game If He Had Covered First

PHILADELPHIA. Aug. 11.—Doak, by his failure to cover first base on Williams' smash between Hornsby and Fournier in the seventh inning, robbed himself of a no-hit game in yesterday's 5 to 1 St. Louis victory over Philadelphia. Hornsby stopped the hall and could easily have retired Williams at first base.

The series will probably start Saturday, August 21, and the following leagues will be entered: Laberty, Dixie. Ben Hur. Wholesalers, Manufacturers and Abbus leagues. The Dixie leagues will furnish considerable opposition for the championship aspirants if they receive the same good pitching they have been able to get thus far from Willie Harris, the star right hander of the Dixie league. There are week spots on the Nits team. However, the Dixie league will be hardly a set up for the other clubs. The Ben Hur champions have been playing a nice brand of hall, hitting the ball hard, and if they get good pitching should be able to furnish a good account of themselves. The Wholesalers champion Stratton team are going to also cause some trouble for the other clubs. B. Williams has been hurling good ball and should be exceptionally hard to beat. The Strattons have a bunch of good fielders and about all they need it the continued batting punch. The Kelsey team of the Manufacturers league will also be one of the strongest clubs in the elimination series. They have a good fielding combination and sting the ball hard, but in the writer's opinion seems a triffe siy in the box. They have the talent avall-

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 11.—That Mississipping will again witness professional baseball in 1921 is the prediction of Hugh Ahern, sports editor of the Daily News, of Jackson, in a review of the Delta league, which has just closed its season. The Delta league, according to the article by Ahern, is the first effort at professional baseball in this state since the Cotton States league disbanded 16 years ago. The effort is a success, too, says Ahern, although promoters made very little money. At least they lost none.
